ACLED Realtime and Past Review

Realtime Review
For ACLED's realtime coverage, data are reviewed extensively on an ongoing basis. In addition, twice every year ACLED looks at the entire dataset to flag areas for review.

Past Review
ACLED assembles a running list of countries and time periods that are actively reviewed, in order to determine whether the information can be improved. Below is a list of times and countries that the team believes requires additional attention because new information has become available, new researchers with local language skills or knowledge have joined the team, or a new local ACLED partnership has been forged, providing more in-depth coverage. This list is as follows:

Zimbabwe (2002 and 2008): review to be completed in January 2018

Ethiopia and Eritrea (1997-2000): review to be completed in February 2018

Ethiopia (2003 and 2004): review to be completed in February 2018

Libya (2011): review to be completed in December 2017

Liberia (1998-2003): review to be completed in 2018

Chad (2005-2010): review to be completed in 2018

Darfur locations (2000-): review to be completed in 2018
